1. Job Description

Teaching, learning and assessment responsibilities:

- Delivering excellence in teaching based on a deep knowledge of History and Politics.
- Creating a challenging and stimulating classroom climate that will motivate students to learn, think independently, take risks, empathise with others, and perform to the best of their abilities.
- Ensuring subject delivery is suitably challenging, knowledge-rich and has a clear focus on the development of strong academic skills.
- Following agreed guidelines, syllabuses and schemes of work, ensuring an excellent knowledge of the requirements of public examinations and the A Level curriculum.
- Undertaking best practice planning of specification delivery in the context of the curriculum intent, ensuring there is a strong rationale for unit delivery and that the scheme of work is well sequenced.
- Preparing thoroughly for lessons and setting homework regularly in line with CTK: Aquinas expectations to ensure that students achieve the highest possible standards.
- Engaging a wide range of digital and physical resources to enhance learning, as well as planning engaging visits, trips, speakers and fieldwork relevant to History.
- Assessing all work regularly and promptly in line with expectations and the scheme of work to ensure that students receive frequent and constructive feedback as they learn.
- Making regular assessments of students and monitoring progress against prior attainment, employing effective intervention strategies when required and using information to extend student achievement through workshops and curriculum extension activities.
- Expertly using a range of individual, whole class or whole cohort data to inform planning, delivery and assessment of the curriculum.
- Ensuring all courses deliver an extensive Super-Curriculum through the provision of electives, workshops and all other academic extension

- Delivering strategies that promote ambitious progress and ensure that value added outcomes are very strong.
- Having high expectations which inspire and motivate learners.
- Modelling and demonstrating the positive attitudes, values and behaviour which teachers are expected to engender in all learners.
- Supporting students in their learning, making each feel included, secure and valued, and ensuring they have every opportunity to fulfill their potential.
- Producing detailed reports on the progress and achievement of students taught.
- Attending all meetings relevant to the role and responsibilities, and attending all parents' evenings for groups taught, as well as other events as directed.
- Communicating effectively with parents and students on all curriculum, teaching, pastoral and learning matters, maintaining high standards and expectations.
- Promoting student achievements, career opportunities and experiences in History, providing relevant material for the college website.

Character and well-being responsibilities

- Ensuring the Mission, Vision for Students and CTK Graces inform delivery of the curriculum and underpins how students develop and work with each other to promote success.
- Delivery of the ethics/tutorial programme, providing an engaging, well-resourced programme of study.
- Contributing to the Catholic ethos, helping students to fulfil their potential and to flourish.
- Delivering agreed processes, ensuring student attendance, punctuality and behaviour is excellent.
- Ensuring the character development and well-being aspects of the curriculum are expertly delivered and that tracking and monitoring processes are tightly aligned to the academic curriculum.
- Developing strong partnerships with universities, employers, secondary schools, primary schools and the wider community in order to promote strong transition and ambitious progression for students.
- Providing direct careers support, ensuring each student is extremely well prepared to make high quality, successful applications to selective universities and prestigious employers
- Being a tutor, encompassing academic, character, wellbeing and administrative oversight of the tutor group and acting as the main point of contact for parents.
- Implementing safeguarding policies, ensuring systems and processes are robustly followed.
- Undertaking pastoral responsibilities as directed, and working with pastoral leads to support student welfare.

Professional development and other responsibilities:

- Playing a full part in the life of the college community, supporting its distinctive mission, ethos and policies while ensuring that students follow this example.
- Setting high personal standards of dress and appearance, attendance and punctuality and class discipline and behaviour, upholding the staff code of conduct at all times.
- Maintaining good order and discipline amongst students and being active in implementing the college's policies on rewards and sanctions.

- Undertaking supervisory, cover and invigilation duties as directed.
- Taking an active involvement in extra-curricular activities – some of these activities will be outside college hours and teachers will be required to engage in these at the end of the day, on some Saturdays and on occasions out of term time.
- Committing to personal professional development, participating in regular, purposeful pedagogy meetings, and in leading edge professional development conferences and summits and being responsible for sharing this with others
- Actively demonstrating curiosity and knowledge of current trends, pedagogy, and topics of importance in the education of History through membership of professional associations and networks and through personal research.
- Undertaking an annual block placement during the college summer planning days in order to enhance and develop applied subject related knowledge and expertise
- Being an examiner with an exam board, as a minimum for the first two years of employment, ensuring a deep and up to date understanding of examination standards
- Complying with relevant Christ the King policies and procedures at all times.

This job description should be seen as enabling rather than prescriptive, and will be subject to regular review as the needs of Aquinas evolve. You will be required to undertake other comparable duties as the Deputy Principal, Executive Principal or senior colleagues may require from time to time.
